5 International models to choose from...

We have selected the best Airstream models to be Internationalized. My wife, Stella, and I have personally traveled in each of them. We have asked other experienced Caravanners for their opinions on these models which are practical, "tried and true" Airstreams to begin with. Then all the self-containment features are built in as they go down the production line. They are complete International living and traveling packages in sizes and accommodations to suit your particular needs and personalities.

BUBBLE—Smallest of the INTERNATIONALS, yet big enough to take a couple around the world comfortably. We find that many people like the Bubble as a second travel trailer for overseas trips because it costs less to ship, it can negotiate the tightest corners easily, and it is readily handled with a light car. The Bubble is surprisingly roomy and completely self-contained.

FLYING CLOUD—Hundreds of Caravanners have used and loved this model. For two people it is a happy combination of room to spread out in, plus easy manageability. You can really live and travel for years with the Flying Cloud. Has a built-in chest of drawers, double clothes closet, separate broom closet, free-standing table you can take outside for "patio meals." Completely self-contained, of course.

WORLD TRAVELER—This is the model Wally and Stella will use on the next overseas Caravans. Layout designed by Stella on her 1956 European tour. One davenport, one single bed, free-standing table and chair with arms. Planned for maximum living and storage space for two, with room for extras like radio, phonograph, TV, Tandem wheels. A trailer you can settle down in and be supremely happy for a long time. Completely self-contained, plus lots of gadgets.

CRUISER TANDEM—This is a model for those who don't like too much confinement, those with a lot of gear, or for family traveling. Can be divided by folding door into two rooms, makes an especially good twin bed model. The Cruiser has generous space everywhere; sit comfortably in the living room, has a big complete galley for the wife who loves her kitchen. Easy to tow, go anywhere, stay anywhere.

SOVEREIGN OF THE ROAD—Largest of the INTERNATIONALS, this is a big tandem trailer with millionaire conveniences. You can tow this luxury trailer with you easily, anywhere you wander, provided you have a car in the Cadillac class (we took one over the worst roads in Mexico). In the Sovereign you will find every comfort you ever dreamed of in a travel trailer. Divides into two oversized rooms. Plushily self-contained.
