Introducing the Motorhome of the 80's

In this day of imitations and copies, there is one thing that cannot be substituted. Experience. For many years now, Dolphin has established itself as the trendsetter in the industry. And in 1976, Dolphin revolutionized the motorhome industry by first introducing the timely and highly successful Micro-Mini Homes that are the forerunners of today's fully self-contained units.

Today's smaller motorhome has established itself as a popular alternative for the RV'er. Gas prices are higher, but we still find you want the freedom and independence of getting away without the unreasonable sacrifices. This is why we're proud to introduce the Dolphin Nissan line for the 80's.

From the first time you step into this engineering wonder, you'll be pleasantly surprised. You'll marvel at the interior richness, spaciousness, and ceiling height that you would normally associate with a larger motorhome. A lowered floorline gives you extra headroom, better handling, and a low exterior profile. This cuts down wind resistance for better performance and added gas mileage to the already economically proven power plant.

Time for personal relaxation and entertainment is at a premium these days, therefore every dollar you spend must be worthwhile. The Dolphin motorhome is a way to stretch your investment now and for the future by going with a quality, proven product. When our name goes on, we're putting our reputation on the line.
The cozy den-like atmosphere becomes evident as you sit in comfortable barrel chairs or divan (optional twin facing divans) of this model.
